throw them aside; and we do so without a moment's hesitation, In commencing the publication of this work, it was with the express agreement among the parties concern ed, that all mere pretensions and humbur should be studiently avoided,-that, above all things, no fal-e statements should be made in prospectu-es and advert sements. True to this principle of action, we cast aside the pretended fashion plates, as seen as we can do so, without violating a promise ign rantly made. At best, the union between literature and fashion is an unnatural one; and e rtainly the office of men nalliners, has not been found by us the most dignified and

In order, however, to gratify those of our lacy readers who live remote from large cities we shall probably give every three or four months a plate, showing what changes have occurred in the modes of dress -- and this is about as often as any material changes do occur. GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE. FOR 1845.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS! Graham's American Monthly Magazine, will commence a new volume, December 10th, 1844. with the January number. Its long and univer-sally successful career, from its commencement until the present time, when it has a circulation exceeding by thousands any other Magazine in the country, is perhaps as good an evidence of its great and increasing merit as the publisher has it in his of the most approved editions and manufacture, and increasing merit as the publisher has it in his which he offers, wholesale or retail, at the lowest power to offer. To his old subscribes, he trusts no assurances are necessary of his determination to maintain its present ascendancy over all the rival periodicals of the country. The engagement, permanently, during the past year, of such men as Bryant, Cooper, Paulding, Dana, Longfellow, Hoffman, Naal, Mancur, etc., of high reputation in the literary world, as regular contributors, in addition to a previous list, embracing the first names in the nation, is a sufficient guarantee that the work will continue to be the principal medium of communication between the best authors and plan does not entirely exclude articles of the most important character, such as have raised Blackwood and some other foreign journals to their high influence and reputation, its pages are prin-cipally devoted to what is usually termed light literature. It is distinguished from other publications of similar aims by the literary and artistic merit of its contents. While those of other works are unknown or anonymous, the contributors to this are the most eminent authors of our age and N. B. The highest price given for Rags in excontaining the choicest pro luctions of the fine icmale writers of the time. Every number contams gems which may be appealed to with pride by the sex, as vindicating their intellectual eminenc It may safely be asserted, that Graham's Magazine has regularly engaged a better corps of writers than any other magazine; that since its establishment it has been the pioneer in magazine literature; and that the contributors of "Graham" have, by their able contributions, given a higher national character to periodical literature in the United States than it ever before possessed. With such a list of writers as our pages exhibit, we may challenge the criticism of Europe. There is no magazine abroad that presents may thing like such an array of emineral writers as James Fenimore Coop V. C. Bryant, Hon. James K. Paulding, R H. Dana, H. W. Lengfellow, Nathaniel Hawthorne, J. C. Neal, Henry W. Herbert, James Russel Lowell, Charles Fenno Hoffman, Hon. R. T. Conrad, H. T. Tuckerman, Alfred B. Street, omitted for want of space. While the most able writers of the country are agaged as permanent contributors to Graham's Magazine, the Arts are not overlooked.

MOST ACCOMPLISHED AMERI CAN ARTISTS employ their genius for our subscribers. The most elegant engravings that have ever appeared in America, have been given to the public in Graham's Magazine. We are now pre-pared to give the right direction to the talents of our artists, and are resolved that a national fone shall be strictly preserved in "Graham." Hereafter we shall place in the engravers' hands none but american pictures. Our own country abounds with the finest scenery in the world. It is full of historical associations, of thrilling interest, and on every hand subjects start up, fit for the painter's pencil and the engraver's buring. Every patriotic sentiment urges the selection of national subjects for the pen and pencil, and we feel assured that the American public will sustain the enterprise.

VARIETY OF MAGNIFICENT ENGRAV-INGS. No magazine in the world has presented so great a variety of elegant engravings to ts subscribers as Graham's. Every branch of art is brought into requisition, and every novelty in Scenery, or incident in American History, that can interest or instruct the reader, is seized upon by the artists in our employ. Among the styles to be put forth in our new volume, for 1845, we will erate the following: AMERICAN BATTLE-GROUNDS. Giv. ing correct pictures, taken on the spot, of the places in which the most remarkable battles have been fought. These engravings will be of the highest order of art; and we may mention, that in order to insure a permanency in the elegance for which these designs have already become celebrated, we have engaged Mr. Smillie for three years, on Amer-

Jonathan Howarth, esq. the well known temper ance lecturer, took a severe cold last January by sleeping in damp sheets, that seemed to have settled in a consumption. Af-ter trying various remedies without relief, he tho't that death alone would relieve him of his misery. But by the advice of a lady he purchased a box of Sherman's C ugh Lozenges; they gave him great relief, and to his surprise allayed his cough, made him rest easy, and enabled him to sleep sound all night; three days' use of them made a new man of him, and he is recommending Sherman's Lozenges to all his acquaintances.

She came to Cincinnati some time since, and began to despair of getting better: indeed she got so bad, the worms came up in her throat-her sufferings became almost intole able. Hearing of the many cures performed by Sherman's Lozenges, she thought she would try them last August. I stepped in your store and got a box of the worm lozenges, and I have every rea-son to rejoice that I did so. She took but ONE HALF Box, when the worms came from her in bunches. I could not be positive, but I would suppose that there were from fifty to sixty in each unch. The last dose brought several white worms, from twelve to fifteen inches long. She began to get well, and felt better than she had for years. Being cured, she gave the balance of the box to a neighbor by the name of Herald, who lives a short distance from us, who has two chilcren, one five and the other two years of age, who were much troub-led with worms, and I have heard since, that by the

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION Among all the famous medicines for Consumption none seems to be meeting with greater success, or gaining a higher reputation than that most wonder ful article,

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

CONSUMPTIVE PATIENTS have already tested its exalted virtues, and confessed its surpassing excellent and amazing power.-The remarkable success of this Balsam is no doub owing in a great measure to the peculiarly agreea of my wife and child. About five years ago, Mrs. Wimer was attacked with a violent cough, pain in the chest and side and symptoms of approaching consumption,. Dur-ing the intervals from that time to sometime in February last, she had been treated by eminent Physicians from Utica, Sylvania, Homer, Chatham and Newark, and with only partial relief of the most urgent symptoms. About one year ago, she caught a violent cold, which seated upon the Lungs, producing an alarming aggravation of all her pre-vious symtoms. Her Physician was sent for, and despite his best efforts, she began rapidly to sink ing Physician, deemed her case altogether hopeless, a council was called, and after deliberating upon her case unanimously pronounced her to be beyond the reach of means, and expressed their opinion that she could survive but a short time, one or two weeks at farthest. WATERVILLE, Oneida, co., N. Y., Sept. 15, 18 3. DEAR SIR:-I owe it to the afflicted to inform you that in January last I was attacked by a very violent cold-caused by working in water, which settled on my lungs. It was accompanied by a very severe pain in my breast and side, and also a distressing cough. I had in attendance all the best medical aid in our village, and after exhausting their skill to no avail they pronounced my disease a confirmed Consumption, and one and all gave me up to die. After much persuasion I got the consent of my physician to use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry prepared by Dr. Wistar. I purchased of the agent in our place one bottle, before using half of which, I began to gain strength, and it was very evident my cough was a great deal better, and my symptoms in every way improving. I have now used three bottles, and am restored to health. The result is alone owing to the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and I take this method of giving you the information, partly to pay the debt of gratitude I owe you, and partly that others similarly afflicted may know where to

I have been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for twenty-hour years—sometimes so severely as to be confined to my room for weeks; and although atended by various medical advisers, of the h reputation and skill in the country, the relief was but partial and temporary—twice the disease proved nearly fatal to my life. PROSPECTUS.

The PICTORIAL and ILLUSTRATED Editions of SHARSPEARE, lately published in England, are amongst the most beautiful specimens of the recent and remarkable improvement of the art of Wood Engraving, which by combining great excellence of execution with economy of price, has given an unprecedented diffusion to the most useful as well as the most exquisite productions of the Arts of

The designs of KENNY MEADOWS for the illus trations of Tyas' edition of Shakspeare, express the character of the several personages, and the spirit of the scene, with wonderful truth and power; whilst the wood engraving of Knight's Pictorial e-dition, combine with the highest merits of art and taste, such a learned and minuteaccuracy as to sce-nery, costume, architecture and antiquity, sc as make them a perpetual and most instructive com-mentary upon the Poet's text. It is now proposed to embody in an AMERICAN EDITION, the admirable illustrations of both these editions, engraved with equal excellence of mechanical execution, to add to these, other engravings from eminent artists, as Reynolds, Fuseli, S. Newton, &c., and to accompany them with a beautifully printed and cor-

The text of Shakspeare's dramatic works, drawn from old printed copies in his age, which had never passed under the author's own eye, was conse-quently disfigured by many errors and absurdities. It passed during the last century through a succession of varying editions, until the revision of Stevens and Malone, whose text, (or rather that of Stevens) has become the standard from which most without experiancing any paroxysm of coughing, of the English and American editions have been and such was its ultimate effect, that after taking printed, with various degrees of accuracy.—But printed, with various degrees of accuracy.-But within the last twenty years, a more minute and faof her physicians, and every one who saw her, en miliar acquaintance with old English idioms, habtirely restored to health; and since last summer has its and modes of thought, guided by an intense and genius, has led to the strong conviction that very many of the numerous though slight deviation from the ancient text, appearing in modern editions are useless or erroneous interpolations, sometimes weakening the sense, and often substituting an ar bitrary monotonous, metrical regularity, to the Poet's own native melody. Accordingly, very many of these emendations have been rejected by the last and best English editors, especially Mr. Knight and Mr. Collier, and the readings of the old folios and quartos have been restored, unless where some error of the press or manuscript was undeniably manilest. Yet there are many such passages confessedly corrupt, requiring conjectural emendations; there are also difference of reading between the several old impressions affording grounds for some diversity of text and warm-controversy, between he more recent editors. Upon these, the American editor thinks it due to the character of this edition, to decide himself, without implicitly following the text of any one modern edition. As the industry and learning of prior editors have furnished the collation of various readings, and the authorities upon which they may be supported, the task is no lor ger that of lab investigation, but, as it were, of judicial decision, nlightened by contending argument.

As many of these variations are of nearly equal probability, and as some of them are doubtles author's own alterations at different periods, all the more important readings will be presented to the reader in the notes, for his selection. Those notes will also contain so much of commentary as may be useful to explain antiquated words and phrases, obscurely expressed passages and illusions to obsolete opinions, or the habits or history of the times; the opinions, or the habits or history of the times; the whole in as condensed a form as practicable. But any commentary upon Shakspeare, however brief, would be imperfect it it did not present some view of the higher criticism employed, not on the interpretation of his language, but upon his thoughts, his character, his poetry, passions, philosophy. The only difficulty here arises from the abundance, the the magnificent variety of the materials contributed the magnificent variety of the materials contributed during the last half century, by the most brilliant minds of Europe. Still it is believed that this duty can be satisfactorily performed, without swelling the edition to an inconvenient bulk.
